A word from the Archdeacon

Dear All

I've been asked to write this letter as your archdeacon. I'm Archdeacon Jeanette, archdeacon of Suffolk. The archdeaconry isn't actually the whole of Suffolk but covers the eastern side of the county including the Orebeck benefice (but excluding Ipswich which has its own archdeacon!)

First, I want to say how encouraged I am at the enthusiasm and commitment I sense in the parishes to keep things going in the vacancy. Thank you to all those who are enabling this to happen. This new joint magazine is one example, another is the forward-planning of the service rota and I am looking forward to being with you on 4th September in Parham and on Christmas Day at Kettleburgh. Sharing worship with different people in our churches is always a privilege.

As I write, you are working with the Rural Dean, Revd Chris Davey, on your benefice profile which is the key document for potential applicants as together we seek to find a new priest in charge. Your hopes and vision for the future as well as your honest assessment of the challenges all help to build a picture for any incoming priest. We know that there are challenges, but there are also 'green shoots', new possibilities and ways of helping people to engage with faith and God, and it's these that I know you will seek to grow in the coming months. I hope that we can move forward to advertising in the autumn. Please pray for all those involved and for those whom God might be calling to serve amongst you.

It's easy to say 'please pray' – harder, perhaps, to actually make time and space to do it. Prayer is that attitude of constant dependence on and awareness of God's guiding and the wisdom of the Holy Spirit. It's the life-blood of a Christian. So, whatever lies ahead for you, for the parishes, for our country and the world, please pray. And remember Philipians 4:6: "Do not worry about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God." You might also like to read verse seven! In God we trust.

With my prayers,

Jeanette

Suffolk Churches Ride and Stride Plea

Due to a prior engagement, I'm unable to cycle this year. Please can someone - or more than one person, cycle from Campsea Ashe? It really is a great day out, seeing the detail of the Suffolk countryside we normally miss when we're in a car. If you set up your ride on the Justgiving site, sponsorship is a lot easier and I've found I raise more money that way. I'll be in the church for some of the afternoon. Do we have any volunteers to Meet and Greet cyclists for part of the morning? Glenys Fear

I'm still planning on "Striding" across the Orebeck Benefice from Brandeston to Campsea Ashe on Saturday 10th and would love a companion or two to join me and or maybe sponsor me in aid of Suffolk Historic Churches Trust.

Please join us for a 'team clean' – ALL welcome (it shouldn't take long if we have plenty of volunteers) Refreshments provided. Yummy!

The church has had regular cleaning during the last year, but it would benefit from a session when we do some extra jobs. The date for the big clean this year is on 9th October. As always, if you know of anyone who would be willing to volunteer an hour of their time about once every 8 weeks, we would love to hear from them – they don't need to be church goers! Brandeston Film Club

We welcome you back to our new season of films and hope to see you on Friday 9th September 2022. Doors open at 7:00pm and the film starts at 7:30pm. We have three new helpers and they have planned some excellent films for the autumn ahead. For September 9th by request is "The Duke" a fine comedy with outstanding actors.

In 1961 Kempton Bunto, a 60 year old taxi driver, stole Goya's portrait of the Duke of Wellington from the National Gallery in London. He sent ransom notes saying that he would return the painting on condition that the government invested more in care for the elderly. What happened next became the stuff of legend. An uplifting true story about a good man who set out to change the world and managed to save his marriage. It's a delightful, gentle British comedy, and stars Jim Broadbent and Helen Mirren.

You do not need to book in advance for the evenings performance, just come along for a fun evening with local ice creams and a well-stocked bar.

MEMORIES OF MERTON FARM, DALLINGHOO

Uncle Ted worked at Merton Farm, just down the road, it was mainly arable and still used horses. I remember there was a big horse pond and an orchard where there was a tree called 'Beauty of Bath', which had a small but delicious apple. (I don't suppose you can get them now ... not commercially viable!)

The kitchen at Merton farmhouse had a big old sink under the kitchen window and a crazy brick floor that sloped down to an outlet just beside the fireplace. The kitchen table was piled high with eggs. When we collected eggs, we had to be careful because the fleas would run up our arm. Once a week the eggs were collected by a van and paid for on the spot. The van went round the cottages, and it didn't matter if you only bought half a dozen. There was a small sitting-room which we were allowed to go in when Mr Harris wasn't there. Sometimes we stayed for tea and ice-cream. The outside loo was housed in a small, old litter-shed (I think this was used for chicks before it became the loo.) The loo itself was a big, metal bucket with a seat and lid. It was called an Elsan and had a chemical in it (a new invention at the time.)

Mr Harris' pride and joy were his dairy herd and electric milking machines. (It must have been in its infancy because hand milking was still being done during the war.) We were told not to go in the milking shed in case a cow kicked us. Mr Harris and Etsy, wore brown overalls (called a slop) and using a small churn from the dairy, poured the warm milk into a high, narrow trough which had cold water running through it. The milk trickled down into a big churn. This was kept in the dairy overnight. Early the next morning the churns were put outside on a high table which was just the right height to go on the lorry which came early to collect them before it got too hot. Pat Peck

HARVEST AT MERTON FARM DALLINGHOO

Most of the harvest was cut by binder which turned out the sheaves which we stacked into sixes and eights. This work was called 'shocking' a Suffolk word, elsewhere the sheaves were called 'stooks'. We took no notice of scratched arms and stubble poking through our sockless sandals. Once the sheaves had dried out the men threw the sheaves up into a big trailer with their pitchforks. One man stood on top of the trailer and evened the load. When the empty trailer went back to the farm, we were allowed to ride on it. No health and safety rules then ... but we were as fit as fiddles. Then I remember seeing the first combine harvester pulled by a tractor while Uncle Ted and Mr Uteman bagged up the grain into big sacks which were dropped down a chute to be picked up later.

The corn wasn't thrashed until the winter when the pink thrashing machine came round from farm to farm. Happy days, Happy Memories! By Pat Peck

Parham

Parham Airfield Museum

It was announced in July that Parham Airfield Museum, has won a Travellers' Choice Award 2022, meaning that it is in the Top 10% off attractions worldwide.

The award celebrates businesses that have received great traveller reviews from visitors around the globe on Tripadvisor over the last 12 months. Parham Airfield Museum stood out by consistently delivering positive experiences to visitors, and welcomed over 2,500 visitors last season, despite the opening period being shorter than normal due to Covid restrictions.

"We are honoured to win this award. We love welcoming new and returning visitors and reading their great comments. We have no paid members of staff, but each year we continue to improve our museum thanks to our team of volunteers who work hard to help the museum thrive. So often we hear this museum is a "hidden gem"; we are keen to make it less hidden and this Tripadvisor award will really help us get the word out.

We would be keen to hear from local people who would be interested in joining our friendly volunteer crew too, either during opening hours to meet and greet visitors or help in our tearoom, or to join our Maintenance and Improvement Team." Peter Kindred, President of the Museum.

Please email us if you would like to find out more or would like to discuss our volunteering opportunities.

Hacheston

HARVEST FESTIVAL at All Saints

September, the days are shorter and should also be cooler. Certainly, I hope so. When I got into my car at about midday on Sunday 14th August the car recorded 41 degrees in Hacheston!

We are now heading towards the Autumn, the grain, fruits and vegetables are ripening or have been harvested and stored. Sadly, this year it may not have been a peaceful or bountiful year but we shall still be celebrating our Harvest at 11am on Sunday 11th.

Do come and give praise for what we have received. We shall celebrate Holy Communion at 11am on 25th Septmber.

Your church is always open, just slip through the bird gate and enter to find peace and tranquillity from this busy life.

Marlesford Parish Council

At the Annual General Meeting of Marlesford Parish Council, held on 20th May, Lord Marlesford announced that he would step down as Chairman. This brought to a close an epic length of service to the village of 44 years as Chairman. All the Committee wished him well and thanked him for his contribution over the decades. A photograph of the whole committee was taken to mark the occasion and a copy will be lodged in the village archives.

The Parish Council exists to represent the village population and residents are encouraged to contact any member if they have concerns or ideas for life in the village. The members this year are:

Lesley Bensley, Sam Catling, Richard Cooper, Di Howard, Lord Marlesford
Heather McConville, Roger Waterfall Chairman.

Marlesford Old School Fund

As we near the start of a new academic year, Marlesford Old School Fund invites applications for grants for education purposes from any child who lives in Marlesford. It can give grants to those starting school for the first time, moving on to secondary education or beginning tertiary education, be it university, sixth form college or apprenticeship.

If you go to Marlesford.suffolk.cloud and then go to the "What's On" section and then click on to the blue script under the Old School Fund you will find the application form which you can print off. If you have no printer, please let me know, and you can come down and collect one.

Quiet Lanes Suffolk

This century, the number of vehicles resident in Marlesford has more than doubled. The number of delivery vans buzzing around the village has increased by an order of magnitude in the last five years. Last century, we could probably have walked from Marlesford to Hacheston along the lanes without meeting a car or van. Now, we would expect several vehicles to pass as we walk along. To encourage drivers to take more care on our little roads, Marlesford is one of nearly 300 Suffolk villages to be registered with the Quiet Lanes initiative.

Sponsored by our County Council, signs are being erected at each end of the "U" class roads, showing that these are approved "Quiet Lanes". The slogans of the programme are:

'Expect and Respect' and 'When you see this sign, take your time.'

Drivers of motorised vehicles are encouraged to be patient when encountering pedestrians, horse riders, wheelchair users and cyclists. We hope that by the end of this month, all the posts will be in place and the last signs fixed and we hope our Quiet Lanes will be a little bit safer for us all.

Google "Quiet Lanes Suffolk" for more information.

IPSWICH Gippeswyk Singers

We're looking for new members!

Gippeswyk Singers is a friendly, non-audition Ipswich chamber choir led by our highly experienced and inspirational musical director, Janette Ruocco. Janette's passion for choral music, attention to detail and inclusive approach makes our rehearsals and concerts a thoroughly enjoyable and rewarding experience. We usually present 3 concerts each year and enjoy travelling further afield on occasion for choir tours. We are looking forward to starting work in September on a magnificent Christmas concert for choir and strings which will include Vivaldi's 'Credo' in E minor and Bob Chilcott's '12 Days of Christmas'. Rehearsals are held at 7.30 pm on Monday evenings during term time at Rushmere St. Andrew Church Hall. If you are thinking of joining a choir we would love to hear from you!

To get in touch, please contact Nigel Harding on 07929 099591.
